Good Morning, My Friend, Harold:

Thank you for sending me a copy of your newest book entitled, "Am I the Leader I Need to Be?" While vacationing in the Virgin Islands during spring break last week, I was fortunate to have been able to read your book from cover to cover!

Harold, your book was fascinating ... definitely your best work yet! In the many years I've had the privilege of knowing you; I've always been challenged and inspired from your teachings.

Thank you for reminding me of the importance of passion, execution, communication, knowing the numbers, sterling honesty, developing others, maintaining a family focus and becoming more health conscious.

I plan to work more diligently on knowing when to discontinue things and bringing more fun into the workplace.

Harold, I'm thankful for every professional experience we have had over nearly two decades. I appreciate the insight you've provided to our company; - and I'm currently working with our retail leaders to get you back engaged with our leadership team, soon.

May God continue to bless you and your wonderful family, as we both pursue excellence in the workplace.

Blessings,

Britt Brookshire
